The Latin Kings

The Latin Kings, also known as the Almighty Latin King and Queen Nation (ALKQN), is one of the largest and most organized Hispanic and Latino street and prison gangs in the United States. Here are some key points about the Latin Kings:

Origins and History

- Founded: The gang was founded in 1954 in the Humboldt Park area of Chicago by Puerto Rican immigrants. Initially, it was a community organization aimed at overcoming racial discrimination and providing support to Latino youth.
- Evolution: Over time, the Latin Kings evolved into a criminal organization involved in various illegal activities.

Structure and Organization

- Factions: The Latin Kings operate under two main factions: the King Motherland Chicago (KMC) faction, headquartered in Chicago, and the Bloodline faction, based in New York.

- Membership: The KMC faction has an estimated 20,000 to 35,000 members, while the Bloodline faction has around 2,200 to 7,500 members.

- Hierarchy: The gang has a hierarchical structure with a clear chain of command, making it highly organized and disciplined.

Activities

- Criminal Activities: The Latin Kings are involved in a wide range of criminal activities, including drug trafficking, assault, burglary, homicide, identity theft, and money laundering.

- Alliances and Rivalries: They have alliances with other gangs such as the Bloods and the Sinaloa Cartel, and rivalries with gangs like the Crips and MS-13.

Cultural Impact

- Symbols and Rituals: The Latin Kings have a rich cultural heritage with specific symbols, colors (black and gold), and rituals that members follow. These elements reinforce their identity and unity.

The Latin Kings have a significant presence not only in the United States but also internationally, including in countries like Canada, Ecuador, Italy, and Spain.
